

Religion Online Resources

Spiritual Journals

The Religious Studies Web Guide is an enormous collection of links to major journals in theology and spiritual philosophy. <http://www.ucalgary.ca/~lipton/journals.html>

Bible

Bible gateway <http://www.biblegateway.com/>

The Bible Gateway is a tool for reading and researching scripture online -- all in the language or translation of your choice! Maintained by Gospel Communications International, a non-profit Christian organization devoted to spreading the Gospel through film, the internet, and other media.

New Testament Gateway <http://www.ntgateway.com/>

A comprehensive, annotated guide to academic material on the New Testament available on the Internet. This is an award winning web directory of internet resources on the New Testament, currently being updated daily.

General

Calendars through the Ages <http://webexhibits.org/calendars/index.html>

Provides links to calendars and background information about the development of calendars from cultures all over the world. Includes dates of holidays for all world religions.

CDRI: cooperative digital resources initiative <http://www.atla.com/digitalresources/>

Intute: Arts & Humanities <http://www.intute.ac.uk/artsandhumanities/religion/>

Intute is a free online service providing you with access to the very best Web resources for education and research. The service is created by a network of UK universities and partners. Subject specialists select and evaluate the websites in our database and write high quality descriptions of the resources.

*Philosophy of religion.info <http://www.philosophyofreligion.info/>

Tim Holt launched Philosophy of Religion .Info in June 2003 with the aim of involving as many people as possible in philosophical conversation about God. Tim has Bachelor's and Master's degrees in philosophy from the University of Sheffield, and a Diploma in Theology from the University of Oxford.

Religions, General

Academic Info Religion <http://www.academicinfo.net/religindex.html>

An annotated directory of Internet resources for the academic study of religion.

Association for Religion Data Archives (ARDA) <http://www.thearda.com/index.asp>

Leading studies on American religion. Includes detailed reports on church membership, graphics, and tables for over 300 surveys, learning modules, and denominational data. Currently housed in the Social Science Research Institute at the Pennsylvania State University, the ARDA is funded by the Lilly Endowment, the John Templeton Foundation, and the Pennsylvania State University.

Religion Online.org <http://www.religion-online.org/>

Religion Online is designed to assist teachers, scholars and general "seekers" who are interested in exploring religious issues. The aim is to develop an extensive library of resources, representing many different points of view, but all written from the perspective of sound scholarship. While the initial orientation has been to seek material written primarily from a Christian perspective, the ultimate aim is to broaden the scope to include material on all the world's major religions.

*The RJ&L religious liberty archive <http://www.churchstatelaw.com/>

This website contains the most complete library of original sources regarding religious liberty available on the Internet. The materials include the full texts and commentary for more than 230 U.S. Supreme Court opinions defining religious liberty in the United States, scores of historical materials important to the framing of the First Amendment, important federal statutes, treatises, regularly updated reports on current developments, and more.

Virtual Religion Index <http://www.virtualreligion.net/vri/>

A helpful tool for students with little time. Analyzes & highlights important content of religion-related websites. Hyperlinks are provided not only to homepages but to major directories & documents within them.

Voice of the Shuttle: Religious Studies <http://vos.ucsb.edu/browse.asp?id=2730>

Humanities megasite covering all faiths; by the University of California at Santa Barbara

Wabash Center, Internet Guide to Religion

http://www.wabashcenter.wabash.edu/resources/guide\_headings.aspx

A selective, annotated guide to a wide variety of electronic resources of interest to those who are involved in the study and practice of religion

Religions, Specific

Buddhanet.net <http://www.buddhanet.net/>

BuddhaNet is a non-sectarian organisation, offering its services to all Buddhist traditions. It aims to facilitate a significant Buddhist presence in the ever-expanding realm of computer communications technology, applying this technology to helping make the Buddha's teachings freely available to all.

Islam and Islamic studies resources <http://www.uga.edu/islam/>

"Information for the study of Islam, religion, Qur'an, hadith, the Sunnah, Shi'ism, Sufism, Islam in the modern world, Muslim women, Islamic art, architecture, music, history, and Arabic...At the core of this website are short introductory essays on various aspects of Islam containing numerous annotated links. Regarded by scholars as the most comprehensive academic website on Islam..."

Maintained by Alan Godlas, Associate Professor of Religion, University of Georgia
Alan Godlas, a specialist in Islamic studies (Univ. of Ga), has provided an excellent, selective guide to Islamic resources on the Web.

Jewish-Christian Relations: <http://www.jcrelations.net/index.htm>

This web site, sponsored by the International Council of Christians and Jews, is dedicated to a special relationship. It is not about Christianity or Judaism per se, but about the development of a new understanding between the two communities after a long history of animosity.

Articles, statements, reports, organizations, links, all indexed.

The Jewish Virtual Library <http://www.jewishvirtuallibrary.org/jsource/index.html>

A cyber-encyclopedia of Jewish history, culture, and religion, and Israel, including an archive of key historical documents and the Virtual Israel Experience; from the American-Israeli Cooperative Enterprise.